Confidentiality Policy

Refugees are people who have endured the loss of their homeland, way of life and dignity. They may have suffered great tragedies with their families and been victims of persecution and torture. They have come to this country to rebuild their lives in keeping with their culture and individual nature. They have a right to recover their privacy and to determine when and how their stories might be shared with others.

Volunteers who work with the refugee program agree to:

1. Respect the privacy of the refugees with whom you are matched. They may not want the stories they share with you to be shared with others. Ask them what you may tell others and what they consider to be private information.
2. Safeguard the confidentiality of the refugees by not making their names, stories and personal circumstances public in any fashion without their consent. This includes the use of photographs and information in news stories for church bulletins, corporate newsletters and local newspapers. Many refugees are happy to share their story in the media. But be sure to ask them first.
3. Hold in strict confidence any information of a sensitive nature shared by the case manager.

I have read these policies and understand the refugees' right to privacy and confidentiality. I will fully abide by these policies.

Inter-Agency Standing Committee (IASC) Task Force on Protection From Sexual Exploitation and Abuse in Humanitarian Crisis

All LIRS affiliates should have a code of conduct consistent with the IASC's six core principles as stated below:

Core Principles of a Code of Conduct

Humanitarian agencies have a duty of care to beneficiaries and a responsibility to ensure that beneficiaries are treated with dignity and respect and that certain minimum standards of behavior are observed. In order to prevent sexual exploitation and abuse, the following core principles must be incorporated into agency codes of conduct:

- Sexual exploitation and abuse by humanitarian workers constitute acts of gross misconduct and are therefore grounds for termination of employment.
- Sexual activity with children (persons under the age of 18) is prohibited regardless of the age of majority or age of consent locally. Mistaken belief in the age of a child is not a defense.
- Exchange of money, employment, goods, or services for sex, including sexual favors or other forms of humiliating, degrading or exploitative behavior is prohibited. This includes exchange of assistance that is due to beneficiaries.
- Sexual relationships between humanitarian workers and beneficiaries are strongly discouraged since they are based in inherently unequal power dynamics. Such relationships undermine the credibility and integrity of humanitarian aid work.
- Where a humanitarian worker develops concerns or suspicions regarding sexual abuse or exploitation by a fellow worker, whether in the same agency or not, he or she must report such concerns via established agency reporting mechanisms.
- Humanitarian workers agencies are obliged to create and maintain an environment which prevents sexual exploitation and abuse and promotes the implementation of their code of conduct. Managers at all levels have particular responsibilities to support and develop systems which maintain this environment.
